

Champagne Jacquesson

Dizy

---

“In Champagne, three stars were only given to Bollinger, Egly-Ouriet, Jacquesson, Krug, Salon and Selosse. In the entire region of France, only 56 domaines have obtained this distinction: this includes Domaine de la Romanée Conti and Château d’Yquem as well as Domaine Zind Humbrecht and Château Rayas.”

La Revue du Vin de France, The Classification of the Best Wines of France 2010

“For several decades now Jacquesson has belonged to the Chiquet family and has become the standard-bearer for champagne connoisseurs, where the wines translate with incredible accuracy and faithfulness the potential of the terroirs they represent.”

Bettane & Dessauve (from their newsletter, 2009)

“They were in the pursuing pack, yet here they are now at the top of the rank. This year they have made the biggest advances in terms of quality. Unbeatable. This small house run by the Chiquet brothers is quite simply becoming the go-to place for vinous Champagnes.”

Bettane & Dessauve (from their Le Grand Guide des Vins de France 2009)

Cuvée No. 735

“The nose is creamy and nougat-like, with aromas of almond paste, apricot, citrus peel, quince and fresh caramel, while the palate is underlined by a vivid spine of acidity that focuses the flavors and enlivens the rich depth of fruit.”

Peter Liem, Champagne Guide (September 2011)

Cuvée No. 734

“The wine is just lovely...”

91+ points- John Gilman, View from the Cellar, #34 (July-August 2011)

“The NV Brut Cuvée 734 is an absolutely beautiful bottle of wine.”

91 points- Antonio Galloni, The Wine Advocate (Issue 192)

“This is an ultra-conscientious house that merits the attention of all who take Champagne seriously as wine.”

92 points- Michael Franz, winereviewonline.com (December 28, 2010)

“Has richness and power, while tight acidity surrounds the core....”

94 points- Wine Enthusiast (December 1, 2011)

Dizy Corne Bautray 2002

“Sexy spice and smoke nuances complicate fresh pear and citrus zest aromas, with an intense mineral quality contributing to the impression of purity. Taut and sharply focused, with strikingly concentrated lemon and orchard fruit flavors and slow-building floral and spice qualities. Finishes precise and very long, with outstanding mineral-driven persistence.”

96 points, Josh Reynolds, Stephen Tanzer’s International Wine Cellar (November-December 2011)

Also: 95 pts, Wine Enthusiast (December 1, 2011)

Avize Champ Caïn 2002

“More powerful and assertive than the Dizy-Corne Bautray, showing a muskier character and deep orchard fruit and gingerbread qualities. Becomes more floral with air and offers brighter orange and ginger notes on the back half. The floral element repeats strongly on the finish, which boasts serious thrust and energy.”

94 points, Josh Reynolds, Stephen Tanzer’s International Wine Cellar (November-December 2011)

Also: 95 pts, Wine Enthusiast (December 1, 2011)

Aÿ Vauzelle Terme 2002

“Jacquesson first bottled this separately in 1996, and while that wine was rightly hailed as a revelation, the 2002 is even finer, with an incredible purity and intensity of expression.”

Peter Liem, Champagne Guide (September 2011)

“The most perfumed of this set of bottlings, showing an intense flower shop quality and suggestions of red berries, anise and peppery spices on the nose and palate. Quite chewy in texture but carrying no excess weight. Broad, rich and tactile Champagne but also strikingly precise and mineral-driven, with excellent finishing breadth and length.”

96 points, Josh Reynolds, Stephen Tanzer’s International Wine Cellar (November-December 2011)

Also: 96 pts, Wine Enthusiast (December 1, 2011)

Dizy Terres Rouges Rosé 2003

“The Terres Rouges is one of only a handful of vintage-dated, single-vineyard rosés in Champagne, and one of rare character.”

Peter Liem, Wine & Spirits (December, 2009)

Vintage 2000

“Dense and grown up on the nose – there is real interest here! Very dry, dense finish. A real statement of a wine. Maybe best with food? Very intense and full of wild life.”

18/20 points- Jancis Robinson (3/29/2010)
